One of a new series of advertisements on
THE CONSTANT NYMPH running in the newspapers of New York,
 Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit,
 Kansas City, St. Louis, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Booksellers are especially invited.....

THE CONSTANT NYMPH, a novel unheard of in January is now, in July, the best-selling book in America. This is according to all three standard reports . . . the ones issued by THE AMERICAN NEWS CO., THE BAKER & TAYLOR CO., and THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY.

THE CONSTANT NYMPH is now in its 81st thousand. It has sold during the last two months 4372 more copies than So Big, last year's best-seller did in the same period in 1924. It has sold more copies in the past month than any month previous. Last week was its record breaking week when it sold 7242 copies in five days!

The personal enthusiasm of booksellers has made this book the outstanding success of 1925, and booksellers are especially invited to enter the contest announced by this new series of advertisements.

The judges are to be booksellers. Send your replies to:

Different Newspapers

will carry advertisements of the new Harold Bell Wright novel,
A SON OF HIS FATHER

Think of it! Seven thousand different newspapers to advertise one book! Even the best selling novels are seldom advertised in more than fifty papers. But more than seven thousand papers, ranging from the best city dailies to country weeklies will be used for the Wright novel.

also the big magazines such as The Saturday Evening Post, The Ladies' Home Journal, McCall's, American and others whose circulations run into millions.

Such a colossal campaign, unprecedented in the annals of book publishing, is only possible because the publishers feel certain that this is the best novel ever written by the most popular author in the world

Coming in the Autumn

About forty books will be on the Century Fall List, of which our friends in the trade will hear more in detail as the cool keen days of September approach. In the meantime, if our word is worth anything, the following seven items of the Autumn Century List should receive especial attention in considering next season's business:—

THE EMIGRANTS

By Johan Bojer

The author of "The Great Hunger" has here done probably his masterpiece. An instant success in the original. Stunning wrapper in colors. $2.00.

CHANNING COMES THROUGH

By Charles Alden Seltzer

The author of "Brass Commandments" provides another thriller for the lover of Westerns. Wrapper in colors. $2.00.

THE CHICKEN-WAGON FAMILY

By Barry Benefield

A jury of book experts say this is one of the freshest, most touching, most dramatic and whimsically humorous stories they have read in a year. Wrapper in colors. $2.00.

ROVING THROUGH SOUTHERN CHINA

By Harry A. Franck

Travel and adventures in the rice-growing half of China. Together with his "Wandering In Northern China" it gives a complete picture of colossal China. Illustrated. Wrapper in colors. $5.00.

THE MAP THAT IS HALF UNROLLED

By E. Alexander Powell

A narrative of a marvelous trip across Africa, down the Congo and up the coast to Morocco. Illustrated. Wrapper in colors. $3.50.

ON NEW SHORES

By Konrad Bercovici

Light on the groups of foreign people living together in the United States—Poles, Russians, French, Finns, Italians, etc., etc. Illustrated with line drawings. Wrapper in colors. $4.00.

DIPPER HILL

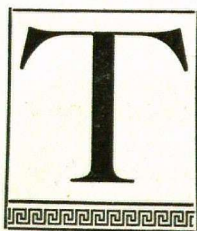

By Anne Bosworth Greene

The author of "The Lone Winter" gives a charming picture of her adventures in ponies, philosophy, poetry and flowers, on her mountain farm in summertime. $2.50.

(Our autumn juvenile list is the biggest and best we've had in years.)

ONE INCREASING PURPOSE
By A. S. M. HUTCHINSON

I have just read Mr. A. S. M. Hutchinson's new novel for the third time - first in manuscript, then twice (every word of it) in proof.

I am absolutely convinced that it is one of the most heart-searching books of this generation.
I have no doubt that it will provoke intense discussion whenever books are read. It will be talked about, argued about, preached about, in all parts of the world. No one will be able to ignore this challenging and most moving story of a man who set out to find a "faith that would satisfy" and found such a faith

The CRYSTAL CUP

by Gertrude Atherton

Author of THE CONQUEROR, BLACK OXEN and other Famous Novels

WE don't know now how much money we will divide among our keen eyed friends in the book trade. It may be five hundred dollars—it may be a hundred. It is a match between the keen eyes of our bookseller friends and our proof-readers.

Columnists and reviewers have often spoken about typographical errors in American books. We have striven to make our books as flawless, typographically, as possible. This season we have decided to make a test with the one book on our list that every bookseller will read Gertrude Atherton's brilliant successor to BLACK OXEN. In regard to its typography, THE CRYSTAL CUP is typical of Boni and Liveright novels.

Read the book at once. If you find a typographical error notify us immediately. We will pay $25.00 to the first person who reports any typographical error found in THE CRYSTAL CUP. Second and third prizes of $10.00 and $5.00 will go to those who discover the same mistakes and whose letters we receive in the order named. All letters will be acknowledged and a complete announcement of winners will be made.

Contest opens July 20th

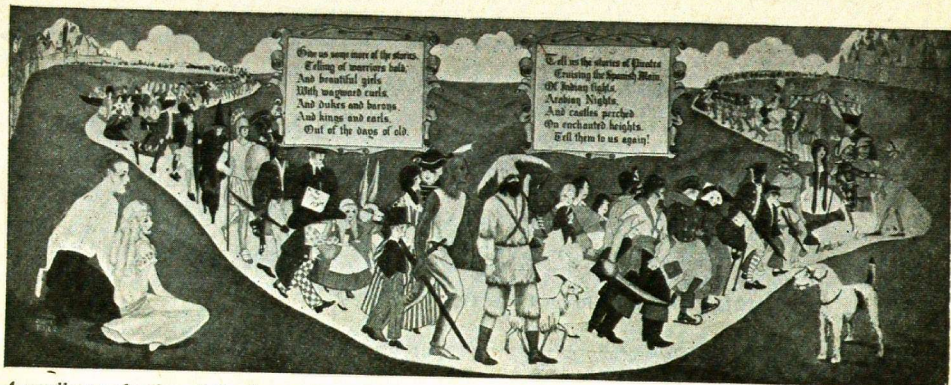

Advance copies of THE CRYSTAL CUP are on their way to you.

Incidentally, advance orders coming in daily show a fine confidence in the book and the big season that is ahead of us.

Sears Juvenile Classics

Price: 50 Cents Per Volume

Here is an edition of standard Juvenile Classics which will fascinate the younger reader. These thirty volumes are just what boys and girls want their books to be—bright, cheery and clever. The titles have been selected with much care and embrace a fine range of the widest selling and the best liked of the famous classics for children and young people.

These volumes have a brilliant jacket printed in four colors, portraying the familiar and beloved characters of famous children's stories passing in review. This pageant idea is carried out with originality, and makes a most effective and striking pictorial jacket. This picture is also used in the same vivid colors as end sheets in the front and back of each volume. This fine reproduction of an oil painting is thus preserved as a lasting feature of the book.

The covers of the volumes have an all over design stamped in red and deep bronze blue on a light tan cloth, making the books bright and lively in appearance. The volumes are bound in sturdy, stiff covers, and have brilliant red stained tops. Each book is printed in large type from new plates on good white book paper. They contain 256 pages, and measure $7\frac{1}{8}$ " high x $4\frac{9}{16}$ " wide.

The price of these volumes (50c.) is so low that they are within the reach of every mother and father who want their children to enjoy the great stories of Juvenile literature in a particularly attractive form. These books possess many of the distinctive features heretofore found only in the finer Juvenile publications at a considerably higher cost.

MY LADY LEE

By Edith Ballinger Price

THIS is the story of a girl who was born blind. The sight of Kentucky's mountain haze that hung over her soap-box cradle, the bare, bleak walls of Willburg's Institution, the color and brilliance of New York's social-artistic world—these were things whose loss was never felt because she had never known them. And Lee Kelton was happy, after a fashion, defying a world which alternately helped and blundered through too great pity of her. Until Robin came along; and before his level gaze and eager, questing spirit her defences crumbled and she knew the bitterness of those who go alone in darkness while the ones they hold dear pass by like meteors in a flash of unseen light.

"My Lady Lee" is a most unusual novel; crowded with action and a diversity of characters that mark the several stages in Lee Kelton's career. In its understanding of the sightless and their reaction and relation to the normal world, it is without parallel in literature.

This book should appeal to Miss Price's wide audience who know her through her popular books and magazine stories; and also to all those who really care for good literature.

How Publishers Sell Chicago

The Booksellers' Convention in Chicago early in May was a great success, and Chicago was proud to entertain the booksellers and publishers—and have them see what a vast and receptive market there is here for good books.

The "book market" in Chicago is largely The Chicago Daily News, as experienced publishers know, and show by the testimony of their advertising lineage. In the first 5 months of 1925, The Chicago Daily News published 54,354 agate lines of book advertising, 14,578 more lines than the paper next in this field.

The Wednesday Book Pages of The Daily News hold the reader interest of literate Chicago—and this interest is shared by advertisers in these pages.

MORE OR LESS SOCIAL NOTES:

New York, July 4

THE SPECTACLE of a well known man of science being pursued all over the country by a charming young lady is amusing to the elite of our cities at the present time. Since his divorce in the last chapter Dr. Arrowsmith has been a most popular bachelor, and if the indiscreet but nevertheless Constant Nymph catches him, our best wishes go with her.

We have been informed that Harcourt, Brace and Company printed an enormous first edition of ARROWSMITH but that it is now in its fourth and they have been forced to buy another carload of paper.

Sauk Centre, Minn., has recently been enlivened by a visit from its most famous native son, Sinclair Lewis. Mr. Lewis spent a week there visiting his father, Dr. Raymond Lewis.

Authors and Their Public

By John Galsworthy

THERE are writers—I am unashamedly one of them—who quite sincerely say they write to please themselves. But what such writers mean when they loosely add "they don't care in the least how many or how few readers they have," is simply that they don't intend consciously to go out of the only way in which they feel they can best write, in order to gain more readers.

Every writer, of course, would like to be read by as many people as possible—that's common sense and human nature. The best way in the end, even to gain readers, is to present life as one sees it, as sincerely and perfectly as one can, and trust to the intrinsic value of the presentation to make its mark with the public.

In the long run, I can assure young authors that this is the only way to secure a worthy public.

It is a naked and uncompromising truth that to assess the real great Public's taste is quite beyond the power of any writer; he may discover formulas to suit a certain section of the Public, and go on turning out an article to pattern; but that way lies rank mediocrity or worse.

The real great Public, the Public of the future as well as of the present, can only be reached by a very single-minded attention to doing the best work one can, guided by one's own conscience, and by the conscience of nobody else—

For—consider! Of what does a writer form his work, if it is to have any value, or to please any one worth pleasing? Out of his own fancy and vision, his own firsthand observation of life and character, his own moods, his own temperament, all trained and tempered to economy and clearness by his own experiments with words.

We are ever being educated by our own efforts and our own reading; but we do nothing but waste time if we dwell morbidly on whether this or that creation will please these or those persons of our acquaintance, which—mind—is all we can really know of the public taste. I don't hesitate to say that a writer who flounders about, consciously groping for indications from other people of what will give him a market or a name, will never achieve a real name, and will never survive his own day; nor will he even attain the market value accorded to those of sterner stuff.

And then there is this to be considered. To talk of Public Taste as if it were a "constant" is an absurdity. It is an ever moving variant. But what varies it? Why! the writer. That is his duty and his privilege. It is he who moves on the Public's taste in literature. With every real piece of literary creation Public Taste gets a fresh jolt; it alters just a little. No writer of sense, none with anything of the artist in him, attempts consciously to influence the public taste; but every sincere writer with any vision brings something into that pool, and helps to widen it.

If this were not so, if Public Taste did not follow the writer, we should all to this day be confectioning our sales in the picaresque manner of Fielding and Smollet and others popular at the outset of the British novel.

The advice I always give to young or would-be writers rash enough to ask me for any, is this:

*Reprinted, abridged, from the Author (London, April, 1925).

"Don't trust to what you can make by fiction; if you have not independent means, however small, then have another job as well, which will enable you to live until your work—the best work you can turn out, the most satisfying to yourself—finds its legitimate place and price."

I think it's bad for both them and for literature that they should succumb to the demands of publishers, editors, or agents, for this or that kind of story. No one is bound to write fiction for a living. No one should write fiction for a living unless it's the very best fiction, light or serious—according to his grain—that he can turn out.

Fiction is an important thing—whatever may be the view of those who suffer from it; one could go almost so far as to say that it's now more important to human society than reality, because, thru fiction, most people experience at second-hand far more than humdrum life gives them at first-hand. Surely, then, those who write fiction ought to make the best fist they can of it, and must lose their self-respect if they don't. Now to come back to the question of "pleasing oneself." I would rather use the words "satisfying oneself."

No one thinks less of flighty stuff written pour épater les bourgeois and to gratify momentary spleens or whims than I. Authors of that sort don't count, anyway, and are so few that we needn't consider them. Nor does anyone regard the heavy father-(or mother-) to-the-public attitude in fiction with greater horror than myself. But what I do feel is that the writer, like any other artist, must be absorbed by his subject, must feel a real interest in his theme and his characters, and must not plunge into ink lukewarm, or reproduce to pattern because he's got to write a book a year to line his pockets and please his publisher.

Authors and publishers ought to pull together more than they do. This is an excellent general principle far too much neglected of late years. I don't believe that a publisher should be consulted by his author as to the type of book he should write next; but, short of that, the more confidence there is between a writer and his publisher, the better for both. When authors persist in treating publishers as if they were natural enemies—seeking to get as much out of them as possible—and publishers try to steal marches on inexperienced authors, the whole fine effort of book-making suffers. We do want cooperation, and again cooperation.

The real use of an agent to an author lies, or should lie, in his knowledge of the serial and film markets, English and American; in arranging foreign translation; in keeping accounts straight, and so on.

I believe in an author finding a publisher to his taste, and sticking to him. Only in that way can warm and confident relations between the pair of them grow up.

A California Patio

By Dorothy H. Knight

Editor of the "Books of the Month"

THERE are gardens and gardens—all sorts and varieties from the window-box makeshift of the city to the flowering beauty of a suburban lawn or a country estate. But a garden in connection with a bookstore is something out of the ordinary, even in July when the whole world seems full of gardens.

Tea rooms and little gift shops often have adjoining courtyards or gardens adding to their air of intimacy and charm, but to be led from a modern and very up-to-date bookstore into an old-world patio, such as that of A. C. Vroman's in Pasadena, is so unexpected that even a blasé visitor must admit surprise and delight.

Opening as it does from a distinctive and very beautiful reading room, finished in fumed oak with beamed ceiling, carved bookcases and heavy furniture, upholstered in dark red leather, this courtyard at once takes on the air of a Spanish patio of a by-gone era and the effect has been enhanced by the cobblestones and worn tile paving, the faded brick walls, the quaint built-in seats and the little fountain which is a replica of one found in Spain. In fact, the whole courtyard has been designed and carefully worked out by a person familiar with Spanish patios who has made this one a duplicate as far as possible.

The most conspicuous feature of the garden is a sturdy fig-tree which helps shade the place and gives it an air of tropical luxuriance enhanced by palms, a little lemon tree and a variety of flowering shrubs. An ordinary black and white photograph gives little idea of the actual charm of the place, for color is its chief attraction—soft pinks, greens, reds and yellows—the whole watched over by a blue, California sky. Shut your eyes and imagine such a picture and you have a little idea of its real loveliness.

The garden has a funny little old-world gate of heavy wood leading into a side-street, so that customers approaching the shop may enter this way if they so desire. Another heavy door leads into the aforementioned Spanish reading room or library whose soft rugs and rich heavy furniture make it an ideal sort of browsing room.

This room has been specially fitted up as an appropriate setting for the shop's most beautiful books—rare items, fine bindings, special sets, etc. It also stands as a link between the practical and the artistic, for looking from it in one direction one views the well-stocked retail room of a busy, progressive western bookshop; while looking back thru open casement windows one catches a last fond glimpse of the colorful garden outside.

"Gives practical, simple, step-by-step instructions for finding and curing car troubles, 'to be used exactly as you would use a road guide when touring.' Each trouble is treated according to its symptom, the possible causes briefly listed, followed by the cures."—A. L. A. Booklist.

"PUTNAM'S AUTOMOBILE HANDBOOK." By H. C. BROKAW AND C. A. STARR
Putnam, 1918, $2.50

"The story of the automobile with material for every day men who do not understand or care for the more technical works. Mr. Brokaw is principal of the Automobile School of the West Side Y. M. C. A. of New York City, and Mr. Starr is a member of the staff."—Book Review Digest.

"AUTOMOBILE OWNER'S GUIDE." By F. B. SCHOLL
Appleton, 1920, $2.50

"The purpose of this book is to serve as a practical guide for those who own, operate, or contemplate purchasing an automobile. The contents cover the entire field that would be of value to the owner or chauffeur in making his own repairs. . . . Technical terms, tables and scales have been entirely eliminated. . . . Since there are many different makes of cars and equipment, we will use for illustration only those which are used by the majority of manufacturers."—Preface.

"FIRST AID TO THE CAR." By H. W. SLAUSON
Harper, 1921, $1.50

Intended to supplement the instruction book. Highway helps, guide to roadside repairs and improvised replacements.

"HOW TO OPERATE A MOTOR CAR." By A. H. VERRILL
McKay, 1919, $.75

The contents are: How to choose a motor car; Learning to drive; The mechanism of the motor car; Caring for a motor car; First lessons on the road; Handling cars in traffic; Accidents, their causes and prevention; Rules and regulations; First aids in emergencies, etc.

"AUTOMOTIVE CONSTRUCTION AND OPERATION." By J. C. WRIGHT AND F. C. SMITH
Wiley, 1924, $3.00

"A text prepared for four groups of readers: the beginning student, the employed mechanic, the owner and the salesman. It combines theory and actual practice in good proportions, and treats of the subject from the viewpoint of upkeep, repair, and operation of the completed automobile rather than that of design or factory production. Non-technical. Well illustrated with photographs and line drawings."—A. L. A. Booklist.

For Ford Owners Only

"MY FORD, ITS CARE AND REPAIR." By H. F. BLANCHARD
U. P. C. Book Co., 1925, $3.00

An up-to-date practical discussion of the cure of all Ford ills, clearly put for the average Ford owner.

"MODEL T FORD CAR."

By V. W. PAGÉ

Henley, 1920, $1.50

Numerous editions attest its popularity. The later editions contain information for the Fordson farm tractor and the F. A. lighting and starting system as well as all the principles and parts of the Ford. Frequent illustrations and diagrams make the explanations easily understood.

Automobile Electrical Equipment"MOTOR CAR STARTING AND LIGHTING."

By A. F. COLLINS

Appleton, 1920, $1.50.

In a note on "How to Use the Book" the author says, "This book tells you (1) how to keep out of starting, lighting and ignition troubles, in so far as this is possible, and, what's more to the point, (2) how to find and fix the troubles when they crop out, which they are bound to do in the best of systems."

"AUTOMOBILE STORAGE BATTERY."

By AMERICAN BUREAU OF ENGINEERING

American Bureau of Engineering, Inc., 1918, $5.00

"Should be of great help to those engaged in maintaining, repairing and overhauling batteries."—Automotive Industries.

"ELECTRICITY AND ITS APPLICATION TO AUTOMOTIVE VEHICLES."

By P. M. STONE

Van Nostrand, 1923, $4.00.

"Deals in a systematic manner with starting, lighting, ignition and miscellaneous electrical appliances, giving concrete information on installation, testing and repair. The last twenty chapters contain description and wiring diagrams of the electrical systems used on various automobiles."—Pittsburgh Monthly Bulletin.

"ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT OF THE MOTOR CAR."

By D. P. MORETON and D. S. HATCH

U. P. C. Book Co., 1918, $2.50.

"A book on automobile electrical starting, lighting, and ignition systems, for the lay reader, designed to give the motorist the necessary knowledge to enable him to care for and repair any and all of the electrical features of his car no matter what make or model it may be."—Sub-title.

"AUTOMOBILE STARTING, LIGHTING AND IGNITION."

By V. W. PAGÉ

Henley, 1920, $3.00.

"Mr. Pagé first explains the nature of electricity—how a current is produced—and then goes on to explain in general the systems used for ignition, starting and lighting. This is followed by a detailed explanation of the individual systems on various cars. Many illustrations and diagrams make this book easy to understand."—Review of Reviews.

"COIL IGNITION FOR MOTOR CARS."

By CYRIL SYLVESTER

Pitman, 1921, $4.00.

This manual for the motor mechanic, owner-driver and all interested in coil systems "may be correctly termed a course of electricity for the average chauffeur. If it is thoroly studied some of the so-called 'mysterious' faults will be simplified."—Preface.

The Motor Truck"MOTOR TRUCK DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION."

By C. T. SCHAEFER

Van Nostrand, 1920, $3.50.

"This volume has been written to fill a pressing want; to give a practical discussion of the gasoline propelled commercial car of the present type, and to present this subject in the plainest possible manner by the use of numerous illustrations."—Preface.

Automobile Identification"AUTOMOBILE IDENTIFICATION."

By J. F. BRENNAN

Scientific American Pub., 1924, $2.50.

"The method used by the author as instructor in the school for motor vehicle identification of the New York police department. Factors for identifying stolen or criminal cars, useful to all citizens for self protection, obtaining of rewards for recovery, etc."—Adv.

Automobile Law

"LEGAL POINTS FOR AUTOMOBILE OWNERS."

By LESLIE CHILDS

Ogilvie, 1917, $0.50.

"This is in no sense a textbook, is not intended for the use of lawyers, or others learned in the law, but for the man in the street, the farmer, the business or professional man, in fact any owner of a car."—Preface.

Automobile Camping

"MOTOR CAMP CRAFT."

By F. E. BRIMMER

Macmillan, 1923, $1.75.

"AUTOCAMPING."

By F. E. BRIMMER

Appleton, 1923, $2.00.

These two books on automobile camping cover practically the same field—that of camping equipment, shelter, cooking appliances and clothing. The Review of Reviews says, "Mr. Brimmer answers scores of questions that are bound to arise in every family which adventures autocamping for the first time. He gives useful and practical information based on actual experience."

"TRAIL CRAFT."

By C. P. FORDYCE

Appleton, 1922, $2.50.

"Dr. Fordyce not only gives descriptions, but in many cases there are illustrations showing just how the thing is done. Trail craft is a very useful book for the traveler who wants to strike out from the more usually traveled roads."—Boston Transcript.

"MOTOR CAMPING BOOK."

By ELON JESSUP

Putnam, 1921, $3.00.

Full information both for long and short tours. There are also chapters on the kit, motor trails, where to go, and motor laws of different states. The chapters devoted to equipment give detailed descriptions, illustrations and many trade names of the articles. The author was associate editor of Outing.

"MOTOR CAMPING."

By J. C. LONG and J. D. LONG

Dodd, 1923, $2.00.

"An introductory chapter sketching briefly some of the possibilities of motor camping is followed by chapters on expenses and equipment, how to choose a camp, meals and cookery, sleeping arrangements, where to go for long and short trips, and laws to be observed. A list of about 2,000 camping sites is given, arranged alphabetically by states and indicating the facilities of each site."—Book Review Digest.

Automobile Touring

"WESTWARD HOBOES."

By W. H. DIXON

Scribner, 1921, $4.00.

Two Boston girls, with intention "to drift, to sketch and write when the spirit moved," shipped their automobile to Galveston and then proceeded by automobile, by rail and by horseback thru Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, then north to the Canadian Rockies and by a northern route back home.

"WE DISCOVER THE OLD DOMINION."

By LOUISE CLOSSER HALE

Dodd, 1916, $2.50.

One of the books which entice owners of automobiles to try the route themselves.

"COASTING DOWN EAST."

By ETHEL HUESTON

Dodd, 1924, $3.50.

"WONDERLAND OF THE EAST."

By W. C. KITCHIN

THE GUTENBERG MEDAL. BY LEON DESCHAMPS

Funds Needed for Gutenberg Museum

United States Asked to Contribute $25,000

EVERY friend of literature, and admirer of the printed word knows the name of Gutenberg. On the occasion of the fifth centenary of Gutenberg's birth, the Gutenberg Museum was founded at Mainz where he produced the first printed book. The Museum was chosen as a fitting memorial, and was to be a source of continuing usefulness to the printers of the world. For a time after its foundation the affairs of the museum progressed. There was every promise that in a few years the international monument would be an accomplished fact, and that its collections and workers could begin to give the world the regular results of its research and discoveries. It was planned to keep the work up-to-date by the steady addition of contemporaneous printed books and inventions. The war came, ten years elapsed and the work is barely started. Permanent quarters in the Stadt Bibliothek are provided and there is an able and scholarly director, Dr. A. Ruppel but there are no funds to carry on the work satisfactorily. Edward E. Bartlett of New York, a master printer and engraver, became interested in the museum during a visit in the summer of 1924.

He hopes the United States will subscribe thru its printing industry and its lovers of books, an operating fund of $25,000. More than five thousand dollars has already been subscribed. The interest on such a fund would aid the continuation of the Gutenberg Museum researches. The museum is to continue on an international character and an American has been elected to the governing board of the Gutenberg Society. Mr. Bartlett has been named as the first American member of the board. The American patrons are The Grolier Club, American Institute of Graphic Arts, The Printing Arts Club of Evansville, Indiana, New York Employing Printers' Association, Franklin Typothetae of Cincinnati, Rochester Typothetae, Southeastern Master Printers' Federation and the Houston-Galveston Typothetae, Incorporated. A partial list of those that have already contributed to the fund includes, Henry Seidel Canby, Thomas M. Cleland, Frank Crowninshield, Walter Damrosch, Frank C. Dodd and Charles Scribner. Checks should be payable to John A. Wilkens, Treasurer, 461 Eighth Avenue, New York.

Summer Reading

THE notion that light books are proper for summer reading seems to derive from two other mistaken notions: that summer is a light season and that light books are easy to read," says a June issue of the Nation. "Whether or not the delusion still persists it is impossible to say. Doubtless it does; doubtless there are publishers even yet who advertise poor novels as good enough for hammocks in the woods, back seats of automobiles and bottoms of canoes.

"If the seasons were ponderable at all it might be demonstrated that summer is the heaviest of the four—not the least delightful by any means, but at any rate the most serious. A long, white day in the middle of July, when no leaf dances and the sun is almost too large for the sky, is a very considerable fact; and the still longer evenings at that time of year, when darkness comes so deliberately and the air thickens with the noises of night, are significant as centuries. Then, more than in any other season, time seems to stand still; then one remembers the particular completeness of life; then one does not long for easy literature.

"And if one did long for it one would not attempt to satisfy the longing with what is called a light novel. Such books are hard going for minds which, even in a hammock with iced ginger ale, like to be occupied. For the implication always is that a cheap text is sufficient diversion—that when the season is overpowering the brain functions so feebly that any old thing will do. There is the legend that a great psychologist resorted to detective stories when his intellect was fagged; and did not one of the Presidents do something of the sort too? But it is difficult for some to see how the detective stories could have been restful. Nothing is more difficult to read than a bad book; "mere" stories can be the dulllest things in the world. Probably no mind worthy of the name was ever really diverted until it was occupied.

"More and more persons are discovering that the simplest and most natural thing to read during a summer's vacation is a long and excellent book. There is time for it at last—no rushing to the office, no dinner-parties, no piles of correspondence. And certainly there is an inclination for it. Such persons, then, slip into their trunks a copy of Plutarch—whom they have never read except in snatches; or of Lucian; or of Thucydides; or of Homer—whom this time they will not skip; or of Livy; or of Dante; or of Montaigne; or of Boccaccio; or of Rabelais; or of Gibbon; or of 'Tom Jones'; or of Boswell; or of Lockhart; or of 'Dichtung und Wahrheit'; or of 'The Origin of Species'; or of 'The Golden Bough'; or of 'The Education of Henry Adams'; or of 'The Old Wives' Tale'; or of 'Of Human Bondage'; or of 'The Forsyte Saga'; or of 'The Genius'; or of Mark Twain's autobiography. That is summer reading.

Five Days a Week

AT one time Saturday half holidays were an innovation, and how many publishers are finding it both practical and convenient to be closed all day Saturday during the summer. With the long commuting distances, it is a great advantage to everybody to have a long week-end in the out-of-doors, and it has been found that five days on that plan accomplish as much as six on the other.

Among the firms that have adopted this are Doubleday, Scribner's, Holt, Dodd, Mead, Oxford, and the Macmillan Company and R. R. Bowker Company on the basis of part of their staffs for each week.

For the Serious Minded Reader

WHEN Rockwell Kent produced his poster as a contribution to the campaign for book readers of the National Association of Book Publishers, there were some who felt that the artist, picturing the serious minded person against the background of a northern winter, had made a poster that would be without the best campaign effectiveness which had been previously obtained by color and spirit. But the poster has found its way to public attention very rapidly, and, while on the one hand art museums, schools, and even art collectors have been asking for specimens of the poster as a fine piece of composition, the meaning which Kent put into it has not been lost on others, and Arthur Brisbane, whose editorials are circulated in millions of papers, under date of June 22nd took this poster as a text and reprinted it at the head of a column of discussion on the importance of serious reading.

"The Rockwell Kent poster," the editorial said, "shows a man Worth While engaged in an occupation Worth While. The poster, made for the National Association of Book Publishers, shows a man discharging one important earthly duty, that of Feeding the Mind."

It is interesting to note how many times this year people have come back to the suggestion that summer is not the time simply for light reading, but it is a great opportunity for serious reading, and it is this point that the Brisbane editorial drives home.

Pockets to Fit the Book

THE book-trade has been very much interested in the increased emphasis on built-in bookcases in new houses, which ought to be featured by architects and should encourage the purchase of books. A widely experienced student of publicity, a correspondent of Publishers' Weekly, now suggests that it would be equally helpful if the tailors would consider book-interested people in making coats, perhaps by strengthening the pockets, so that the carrying of a book in the side pocket of a coat would not only be convenient but not at all harmful to the coat itself.

Every bookseller has had experience with the confirmed book lover who, after he has purchased a much loved volume or one whose ownership has been long anticipated, is not satisfied with having it done up in a bundle but wants to slip it into his coat, in order to have a real and immediate sense of possession.

Perhaps it may be that the real book-lover is not hindered from this method by a foreboding of what this might do to the lines of his coat, but, whatever its virtues, here is a diverting test for the real lover of reading—will he sacrifice the lines of his coat in order to carry some cherished volume about with him?

English Auction Prices

THE invaluable series of "Book Auction Records" established in 1902 by Frank Karslake and recently under the new management of Henry Stevens, Son & Stiles, London, will be published for the American market by the office of the Publishers' Weekly, and the first bound volume under the new editorship will be ready for distribution this month. The price is $10.

The index now completed covers 15,000 books of the auction year ending July, 1924. The new publishers plan to increase the speed of publication, so that the next yearly volume will be closer to the date of the completion of the season. In the meantime, many improvements of typography and arrangement have been worked out, so that the book is of much more value than any previous effort.

There is also a large staff working on the second decennial index of the "B. A. R.," the index of the first ten years having been published a year ago and covering 200,000 entries.

The steady increase of the interest in the collecting of rare books in this country makes it imperative that the best tools of the trade should be available in every store, and for that reason the Publishers' Weekly takes a good deal of pride in becoming the publisher of this all-important reference book, which, with the well-known "American Book Prices Current," gives the dealers as accurate information as can be obtained on the most recent tendencies of book prices.

Everyman's Library Contest

HESTER R. HOFFMAN of the Hampshire Bookshop has been awarded by E. P. Dutton & Company first prize for the best selection of 100 titles from Everyman's Library suitable for the stock of a small bookshop, a list accompanied by an argument justifying the selection made. The prize was $100. The second prize of $50 went to James H. Fleck of the William F. Gable Company Department Store, Altoona, Pa.; the third prize of $25 went to James P. Threlkeld of the New Mexico Book Store, Albuquerque, N. M.; the fourth prize of $15 went to Mrs. Lulu S. Teeter of Morris Sanford Company, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; and the fifth prize of $10 went to Wright Beyer of Charles S. Pratt's Shop, New York City.

The publishers have now decided to adopt special methods in promoting this list of 100 books, and will have new jackets for their display, and other promotion material. For the convenience of small shops, a special display case will be arranged which will hold 100 volumes, and will so hold the books that they can be brought conspicuously to the attention of customers and thus insure rapid turnover, which makes their handling profitable. The list of 100 includes every field of literature—standard fiction, famous books for children, biography, essays, history, travel and poetry. The books by American authors include Emerson's "Essays," Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter," "Wonder Book," and "The House of the Seven Gables," Holmes's "Autocrat," Cooper's "Deerslayer" and "The Last of the Mohicans," Irving's "The Sketch Book," Melville's "Moby Dick," Franklin's "Autobiography," Lincoln's "Speeches," Thoreau's "Walden," Poe's "Tales," Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Longfellow's "Poems," Whitman's "Leaves of Grass," Dana's "Two Years Before the Mast," and Dodge's "Hans Brinker." There are also translations from the Greek as of Homer and Plato, Dante and Cellini from the Italian, Hugo, Dumas and Jules Verne from the French, Goethe from the German, Dostoevsky from the Russian, Ibsen from the Norwegian, and a wide variety, of course, of the classics of English writers.

Russian Book Production Gains

THE production of books in Russia under the Soviet has increased with each year, according to a report of the Society for Cultural Relations in Moscow received at the Russian Information Bureau, Washington, D. C. Perhaps the most astonishing and interesting feature of the report is that book production in Russia last year more than doubled the United States production of books and pamphlets. Last year there were 15,600 books published in the Soviet Republic, a total of 900,000,000 copies. In 1912, when book publishing reached its height under the Tsar's government, 22,000 titles and 800,000,000 volumes were issued including, however, Poland, Finland, Latvia and other territory now separated from the Soviet Union.

Some indication of the literary material issued is shown by the classification of the output of 23 publishing houses issuing 86 per cent of the books published. The books published by these houses include the following classifications: Belles-lettres, 10.6 per cent; economic, 9.1 per cent; Lenin series, 8.3 per cent; textbooks, 7.6 per cent; popular political, 6.8 per cent; peasant literature, 6 per cent; youth, 5.9 per cent; agriculture, 5.4 per cent; popular science, 5 per cent; pedagogics, 4.6 per cent; science, 4 per cent; accounting, 3.9 per cent; children's, 3.7 per cent; military, 2.9 per cent; current questions, 2.7 per cent; co-operative, 1.9 per cent; juridical, 0.4 per cent; miscellaneous, 12.3 per cent.

Practical Business Hints From Other Bookshops

One dollar paid for each contribution found suitable for this page. They should be briefly stated and practical.

Travel Windows

A VERY attractive travel exhibit was recently displayed in a window of the National City Bank at 57th Street and Seventh Avenue. The exhibit was arranged by James Heidelberger of E. P. Dutton's, who has already done several successful travel windows at the Dutton bookshop on Fifth Avenue. The window showed a combination of travel books, travel posters, and travelers' check announcements, with the streamer "Read Before You Travel" across the center. It represented a cooperative idea of the bank, the Save-to-Travel Association, and the National Association of Book Publishers.

Drive on Dullness Advocated

THE Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal suggests the following program of activity to offset the feeling of depression that sometimes occurs during dull seasons:

- "Do something."
- "Prepare a catalog."
- "Have a vigorous campaign of cleaning and rearrangement."
- "Alter windows; let another and a different hand try its luck."
- "Endeavor to simplify and reorganize business methods."
- "Look to your lists of customers; correct and add new names."
- "Circularize more promptly and efficiently all possible purchasers."
- "Consider if you advertise enough and act accordingly."
- "Clear out stock that is awaiting such treatment."
- "With caution advise your accountant to wake up those reluctant customers."

Maps on the Map

DOES the passing motor tourist who flourishes in great numbers at this time of the year know that you have maps for sale? A large map continuously displayed in the window with a suitable legend is used effectively by many shops to draw this potentially excellent trade. This season of the year is also suitable for arranging frequent window displays of all kinds of maps. The Automobile Blue Books naturally predominate in these displays but there are also representative assortment of the less expensive type of motor map. In many cases the motorist whether itinerant or local, perhaps, already the owner of a Blue Book, will readily purchase in addition moderately priced motor guides. Globes of various sizes, together with local and other handy guide books, a sprinkling of good travel books will help form an attractive display.

Summer Sales

SALES are usually held twice a year, the early summer and the first of the year. Some people consider them necessary evils, others think them an important feature of the store's yearly routine. Try separating them into a fiction and non-fiction sales. The fiction sale would, of course, be held in summer, the period of much fiction reading. Many shops feel that it is worth while to announce the sale well in advance so that the requisite amount of interest may be aroused. News of a sale has to be thoroly broadcast if it is to attain any degree of success. An inexpensive leaflet listing the most important values is one of the many excellent ways of drawing the public's attention to the fact that a sale is in progress. Dead stock should furnish the nucleus with perhaps the added attraction of a few good remainders. Fiction is the terror of most booksellers, novels that they have bought in fives only to sell one. It is scarcely profitable to hoard these little piles of four for more than a year.

New Vice President of Appletons

FREDERICK ROY MARTIN has just become Vice President and General Manager of D. Appleton & Co. Mr. Martin also becomes a member of the Executive Committee, and has taken substantial stock interest in the firm. Mr. Martin was formerly General Manager of the Associated Press, from which position he resigned last April. He was graduated from Harvard in 1893, and is now a member of the Harvard Board of Overseers. He was editor of the Providence Journal for fourteen years, and has been with the Associated Press for thirteen years.

Bodenheim and Harris Volumes Cause Indictment of Publishers

THE New York police on June 26th seized at the Up-to-Date Printing Company at 195 Canal Street 298 copies of the second volume of Frank Harris's "My Life" and arrested four men connected with the printing concern. The first volume of the work was published in Paris by the author, who is supposed to be still living there. It is a book stated by all who had seen it to be unfit for publication under the standards of any country. The attorney for the defendants claim that this volume two was being privately printed for distribution among friends of Harris, and that the printers were not in any way connected with its selling or publication. The police said that their information was confidential, and the reporter who questioned John S. Sumner, secretary of the Society for the Suppression of Vice found that this Society was not responsible for the initiative.

A temporary injunction restraining the police commissioner and District Attorney Banton from using copies of the book as evidence against the partners in the printing concern has been granted by Justice Tierney. The application was made by attorneys for the printing firm. Argument on a permanent injunction is to be heard by Justice Tierney. The injunction was granted on an affidavit by one of the partners that the police entered the printing establishment and seized the books without a warrant.

Horace B. Liveright and Thomas R.

Smith, literary editor for Boni & Liveright, were indicted this week by the grand jury in connection with the publication of "Replenishing Jessica" by Maxwell Bodenheim. Both pleaded not guilty before Judge Rosalski in General Sessions, and were released on bail of $2,500 each. Ten days have been granted the defendants in which to change or amend their pleas. Mr. Liveright has said that the indictment would be fought to a finish, that the book was the work of a great author and poet, and was not only highly moral but of literary significance.

"The Oldest Bookstores in New York"

THE record of the oldest retail bookselling organization in New York, which appeared in the Publishers' Weekly, June 20, needs a revision.

The long record of continuous business under the same firm name credited to P. J. Kenedy & Sons and to G. P. Putnam's Sons is outdistanced by the Methodist Book Concern. This veteran organization was formed in 1789 in Philadelphia and remained in that city until 1804, when it was transferred to New York where it has been ever since.

Its first habitation was a small room on Gold Street. During the succeeding thirty years a number of removals were made to accommodate its increasing business until 1833, when it became established at 200 Mulberry Street where a printing plant was added.

In 1869 its headquarters for publishing and selling were moved to 805 Broadway, in the ample basement of which a fine retail shop was installed. About twenty years later the society moved into its own building at 150 Fifth Avenue, and since 1888 has continued in retail bookselling, which began one hundred and twenty years ago.

This is a record in American bookselling hard to parallel.

The American Tract Society, which was organized in 1825 and recently celebrated its one hundredth anniversary, must also be included in the list of bookselling organizations that have long records in the annals of the metropolitan city.

Communications

Smalley Explains

Editor, Publishers' Weekly:

I want to correct the wrong impression given in the Publishers' Weekly that I filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. Rather I was forced to close. Bills were paid as far as I was able to pay, even on the last day I was in business. I wish the book-trade to know that I was not closed by the action of any of the publishers but by those in other lines of business.

I am now selling several important lines on the road, and will start for the Pacific Coast in a few days. I hope so to prosper that in the near future the name of "Smalley's" will again stand for the best in books as it has in the past.

(Signed) CARL J. SMALLEY.

Kansas City, Mo., June 25th, 1925.

Personal Notes

THE RECENT RESIGNATION of Tessa L. Kelso brings to a close an association with The Baker & Taylor Co. which extended back to the time when they were known as active book publishers as well as wholesalers and covered experience in both the publishing and library departments. When The Baker & Taylor Co. withdrew from book publishing, Miss Kelso represented them in the library field, altho much of her time and energies were devoted to special work of a personal nature not related to the book-trade. We understand that she will continue her interest in that direction.

MAX MERRILL MILLER has become president and general manager of Hobart J. Shanley & Co., Inc., 5 Church Street, Burlington, Vt.

ROBERT D. COLLYER, formerly of Paul Elder & Company, San Francisco, is now associated with The Emporium Book Shop, San Francisco, as Assistant Buyer.

G. C. KINGSCOTT, Manager of the Australian Branch of Isaac Pitman & Sons, will be traveling thru America on his trip around the world. All of the more important cities of the States and Canada are being visited. Mr. Kingscott will be in New York for the week ending July 4th.

THE HONORARY DEGREE of Master of Letters has been awarded by the University of Colorado to Mrs. L. A. Miller of Colorado Springs, chairman of the Division of Literature of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and author of several books. Mrs. Miller, as a speaker at the Chicago Convention of the booksellers, is well known to the book-trade, as well as to her own public, and under her direction the Division of Literature has taken a more constructive and active interest in the general reading and book distribution progress of the country.

The Weekly Record of New Publications

THIS list aims to be a complete and accurate record of American book publications. Pamphlets will be included only if of special value. Publishers should send copies of all books promptly for annotation and entry, and the receipt of advance copies insures record simultaneous with publication. The annotations are descriptive, not critical; intended to place not to judge the books. Pamphlet material and books of lesser trade interest are listed in smaller type.

The entry is transcribed from title page when the book is sent for record. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. When not specified the binding is cloth.

Imprint date [or best available date, preferably copyright date, in bracket] is always stated, except when imprint date and copyright date agree and are of the current year, in which case only "c" is used. No ascertainable date is designated thus: [n.d.].

Sizes are indicated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q (4to: under 30 cm.); O (8vo: 25 cm.); D (12mo: 20 cm.); S (16mo: 17½ cm.); T (24mo: 15 cm.); sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow.

Old and Rare Books

Edited by Frederick M. Hopkins.

JOSEPH BAER & CO., of Frankfort, Germany, continues to print rare book catalogs rich in early manuscripts and rare incunabula. Their last catalog is a volume in itself, containing 160 illustrations, embracing illuminated manuscripts and printed books of the twelfth to the sixteenth century inclusive, mainly representing Germany, the Netherlands and Belgium, with a supplement of Italian and French illustrated books.

A BALTIMORE collector writes to us saying: "Last year I was able to report the finding of Mrs. Whitman's 'Edgar A. Poe and His Critics,' an autograph presentation copy of the first edition from Maria Clemm, the poet's aunt and mother-in-law, and from the same Baltimore bookshop has come to me Poe's 'Poems' second edition, 1831, including many poems now first published, a fresh clean copy in the original state." Another collector recently wrote to us stating that he had picked up a copy of the first edition of Poe's "Eureka," 1848, clean, bright and crisp as new, in a New York bookshop for fifty cents, the last two copies of which I saw cataloged for $45 and $50 respectively. There is hope for the best Poe items yet.

HOUGHTON MIFFLIN COMPANY, in an announcement to collectors says: "During the past few months, we have issued a group of notable American volumes in special limited editions, and it is our intention to continue our exploration of this wide and important field, collecting, year by year, the choicest material and issuing it in a style that is in every way worthy of the subject matter. For this Americana we have set a standard that embraces not only historical authenticity, but requires as well that a fresh light be thrown on the phase of American history under discussion—that it illuminate and elaborate it; and further that the theme itself shall be interesting. For by so doing, we hope to make these books of value to the collector and of interest to the student and to the general reader."

IT is no longer necessary that an Act of Congress be awaited before the Library of Congress may accept a gift. The recent statute creating the Library of Congress Trust Fund Board promises untold good for the Library and the nation which it serves. Hereafter no gift of books or money will be too small or too great to go unregarded. Its development from now on undoubtedly will be greatly augmented. This library is rapidly becoming one of the great libraries of the world. In the number of its total collection it is second only to the British Museum of London and the Bibliothèque Nationale of Paris. It now contains more than 3,000,000 volumes, and in addition has large collections of maps, music and prints. John T. Vance, Jr., law librarian, has recently called attention to the wealth of information to students of law possessed by the library. Beginning with the Jefferson collection of 639 volumes, the total is now well over 200,000 volumes. Mr. Vance says: "What satisfaction our bench and bar must feel when they know that their national library possesses not only a remarkable collection of the sources of our common law, but an almost complete collection of our own American jurisprudence, with a good collection of civil law, Roman law, canonical law and working collections of the laws of every country in the world." And in many other departments this great library is unsurpassed. Now that additions and endowment of collections are easily arranged it is highly probable that many great collections will gravitate naturally to this truly great national library.

THE Hoover War Library at Leland Stanford Jr. University, for research and history of the Great War is paralleled only in the Paris Musée de la Guerre, now the property of the French Republic. This library was founded in 1919 with funds provided by Herbert C. Hoover, Secretary of Commerce. In five years, under the direction of Dr. Ephraim D. Adams, professor of history, it acquired 125,000 items, more than half of which were unprinted or out of print. One part of the program of the library calls for the acquisition of all the important official documents of every nation of the world thruout the war period and that of reconstruction following the war. The collection includes not only documents which were made public, but also many official papers which were not intended for circulation outside of the government offices. The value of this collection, especially for research work, is greatly enhanced by the number of pre-war official documents in the general library, 35,000 in all. The German series run from 1870, the French from 1789, the Canadian from 1868, and the American from the early days of the republic, and the British from the middle of the eighteenth century. The library supplements its collection of official documents with those of the leading societies in a great many nations. Altho more than a thousand societies in a score of countries have sent their documents to Stanford, the work of gathering society publications is as yet only half accomplished. Documents concerning the Washington Conference, the League of Nations, the Paris Peace Conference, and a number of other international bodies have been gathered with great care. In collecting newspapers, the library has compromised between an appreciation of their importance and a temporary caution in regard to their bulk. The general policy has been to obtain from each country a file of a newspaper that was in sympathy with the government and of two opposition newspapers, representing the Left and the Right. The policy in purchasing books and pamphlets differs from the policies of other war libraries in that it is more international and less antiquarian in interest. Its aim has been historical value, wherever the material was published, and whether it appeared during the war or since. In the selection of foreign books the aid of several European scholars has been enlisted, notably of Gabriel Hanitoux in Paris; Dr. Ernest Pribram in Vienna, Dr. Hirn in Helsingfors, Pokrovsky in Petrograd and Nelson Gay in Italy. The books and pamphlets now number approximately in French, 10,000; English, 9,000; German, 7,000; Russian, 12,000; Hungarian, 1,500; Italian, 1,500; and in other languages, 4,000. The collection in regard to the Russian Revolution and the years immediately following is the best in the world. This library, Dr. Charles H. Haskins of Harvard declared to the American Historical Association at New Haven, is a most convincing illustration of the ability of American scholars to overcome the material obstacles to research in European fields; and to be one of the most significant achievements of American universities in the last decade.

The people are numbered

26 ¶ Only the firstling of the beasts, which should be the LORD'S firstling, no man shall sanctify it; whether it be ox, or sheep: it is the LORD'S.

27 And if it be of an unclean beast, then he shall redeem it according to thine estimation, and shall add a fifth part of it thereto: or if it be not redeemed, then it shall be sold according to thy estimation.

28 Notwithstanding no devoted thing, that a man shall devote unto the LORD of all that he hath, both of man and beast, and of the field of his possession, shall be sold or redeemed: every devoted thing is most holy unto the LORD.

29 None devoted, which shall be devoted of men, shall be redeemed; but shall surely be put to death.

30 And all the tithe of the land, whether of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the LORD'S: it is holy unto the LORD.

31 And if a man will at all redeem ought of his tithes, he shall add thereto the fifth part thereof.

32 And concerning the tithe of the herd, or of the flock, even of whatsoever passeth under the rod, the tenth shall be holy unto the LORD.

33 He shall not search whether it be good or bad, neither shall he change it: and if he change it at all, then both it and the change thereof shall be holy; it shall not be redeemed.

34 These are the commandments, which the LORD commanded Mō'ses for the children of Is'ra-el in mount Si'nai.

Books Wanted and Books For Sale

Under Books Wanted (for the trade only) and Books for Sale, subscribers are charged 15c a line (no charge for address); all other classified ads. 20c for each line; double leaded, 40c a line. Bills for this service will be rendered monthly. Advertisers with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible lists are ignored. To insure prompt replies each title should begin on a separate line. Grouped titles in a solid paragraph, excepting those by one author, not allowed. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors.

Objectionable books are excluded as far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withholding the privileges of advertising should occasion arise, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE WRITINGS OF SAMUEL BUTLER

(Author of "Erewhon")

AND OF WRITINGS ABOUT HIM

By A. J. Hoppé

WITH SOME LETTERS FROM SAMUEL BUTLER
TO THE REV. F. G. FLEAY, NOW FIRST PUBLISHED

¶ This work is the first exhaustive bibliography of "the greatest writer, in his own department, of the latter half of the 19th century," to quote Mr. Bernard Shaw. To Collectors it will be of inestimable value in fully collating (with annotations) all the first and rare editions of books, pamphlets and leaflets by Samuel Butler, while both Students and Collectors will welcome the work for its information not only on all Butler's writings but also on writings about him.

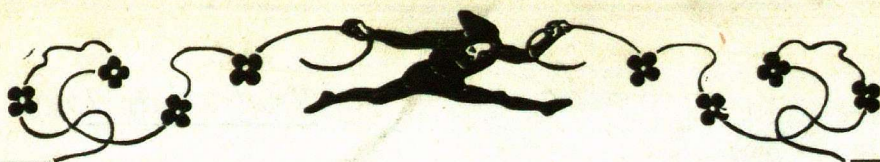

¶ The letters and facsimiles give the volume considerable additional interest.

A Summer Slogan

"Books for Boys and Girls in Every Summer Cottage"

The Stories All Children Love Series Makes An Ideal Vacation Set

Parents know the value of story books on rainy days at the summer cottage. A series like this will fill the dragging hours with wonderland for restless girls and boys. Make it part and parcel of the vacation equipment of all your customers with children.

Gay in their bright tartan jackets, ingeniously appealing in their pretty color plates and lining papers—children love their favorites even better in the attractive dress of this popular series. Sales show a steady advance every season. This series will do even better for you this year of increased activity in the sale of juveniles.
